

Figure S3. Variance and loading from XRD spectra of red pottery with and without baseline-drift correction. First row show variance explained by principal components. Second row show loading plot corresponding to the PC1. Left, middle, and right columns were spectra untreated, mean-centering, and autoscaling, respectively.